

Max Bronski
I am become death

16.95 € (D)

Rights sold: -

A dramatic spy thriller driven by the ultimate questions of theoretical physics, the ethical responsibility of science and the explosive link between fundamental research and political power.

Wolf Erlbruch
Duck, Death and Tulip

14.90 € (D)

Rights sold: -

Sooner or later every child asks about death. With no inhibitions. Every parent knows this and yet is seldom ready with an uninhibited response. Death is a part of life but it rarely plays a part in children's books. There are some exceptions to this rule, and Wolf Erlbruchs "Ente, Tod und Tulpe" (Duck, Death and Tulip) is certainly one of the most notable. Death, it turns out, has been there all the time, Duck's constant but unnoticed companion.

Hermann Fischer
Material Change

19.95 € (D)

Rights sold: -

Hermann Fischer is a chemist and entrepreneur, and a pioneer and advocate of the use of renewable raw materials. Starting out from the biochemistry of our own metabolism, Fischer uses his in-depth knowledge and vast experience to open the eyes of his readers to the magic of substances and their compounds as they shape our material environment. He illustrates that, parallel to the changes in perception and provision of energy generation, a material change is also long overdue in the chemical industry: our economies can only ever be sustainable if we harness the power of the sun.

Michael Sowa
Stinky Hollow by Bottom Tops

I wonder have your parents ever taken you to Windy Haven by Twin Tops? No? Hardly surprising really, there's nothing there but fresh air, a swimming pool and mini golf. But there is a secret that no-one likes to speak about and all kinds of rumours that in the dim and distant past Windy Haven was called Stinky Holllow and the Twin Tops were known as Bottom Tops (quite simply because that's the way they looked!). But why Stinky Hollow?
