

Susanne Wiborg, Rotraut
Susanne Berner
Garden splendour and birds
of a feather

160 pages
Euro 18,00 € (D)
published in November 2016
ISBN 978-3-95614-133-1

Susanne Wiborg's garden is a heavenly place, so take a seat as you read: a wealth of knowledge and pure pleasure are rarely communicated so effortlessly. We begin in the springtime and the garden is glorious with golden marsh marigold; snake's head fritillary strikes a pose in antique rose, purple or deep violet, and the bluest blue belongs to the forget-me-nots. Breathe in high summer and the heady scent of sweetbrier or eglantine and relish late summer as filigree meadow rue immerses the garden in a sea of blue. The real stars of this book, however, are feathered: the hens who pick their way among the blossoms are clever, comical and exceedingly social animals. As Susanne Wiborg herself notes: "As I watch the hens, it strikes me that there many variations of human folly, but keeping chickens – and being "garden mad" – has to be one of the most pleasurable." What more can you ask!

© © Verlag Antje Kunstmann

Susanne Wiborg

Susanne Wiborg is a journalist and lives near Hamburg. She has worked for Die Zeit and currently writes for Tagesspiegel and kraut & rüben. Her most recent publications are "Gäste in meinem Garten. Bienen, Amseln, Huhn und Star" (Kunstmann 2019) and "Glaube, Führer, Hoffnung. Der Untergang der Clara S." (together with Jan Peter Wiborg, Kunstmann 2015).

Other titles of the author

Garden Time 978-3-88897-562-2

Faith, Hope, Hitler 978-3-95614-028-0

The Happy Horizon 978-3-95614-538-4

Rotraut Susanne Berner

© Manu Theobald